NIGERIA: Facing the perfect storm

Africa's biggest economy is facing challenges on multiple fronts.

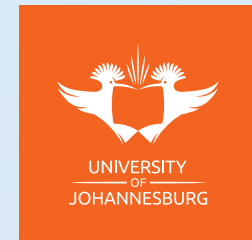

Not only is it battling the COVID-19 pandemic and new risks presented by widespread lockdowns, it faces immense revenue challenges in the wake of all-time low oil prices. Economic diversification has been elusive and the private sector is bracing for the second recession in a few years. But this perfect storm presents a new opportunity for Nigeria to tackle longstanding challenges to make it more resilient.

Join JBS and the South Africa-Nigeria Business Chamber to discuss these pressing issues with guest speaker Laoye Jaiyeola, CEO of the Nigerian Economic Summit Group.
