

Completion of African Insights

- In 2017, the University of Johannesburg launched a compulsory module called African Insights for first-time entering students.
 - The module is completed entirely online and introduces students to the exciting and valuable contributions made by African scholars, poets, philosophers, novelists, social activists and politicians.
- The compulsory nature of the module means that students need to complete African Insights before they graduate.
 - This means that 2017 first-time entering students who have not yet completed African Insights have to complete the module before they graduate. This only applies to you if you registered as a first-year at UJ in 2017 and if you were not registered at another Higher Education Institution previously. Please contact: africaninsights@uj.ac.za for further information.