BAHons (Afrikaans)

Toelatingsvereistes: Toelating tot die honneursprogram moet deur die Departementshoof goedgekeur word.

Tydsduur van die program: 1 jaar
Kontakbesonderhede: Prof M Pienaar / Tel: 011 559 2694 / Epos: mpienaar@uj.ac.za

Kort beskrywing van die program: In die nagraadse programme in Afrikaans (Honneurs, Meestersgraad en Doktorsgraad) word menslike bestaan ondersoek deur te kyk na die simbole, mites, metafore en tekste wat die menslike bestaan medieer. Soos in al die ander geesteswetenskappe is begrip van die menslike bestaan die doel. In die vak Afrikaans is taal en tekste die middel tot hierdie doel.

Om die mens en die manier waarop die mens die wêreld verstaan, te ondersoek, word die taal wat die mens gebruik om uitdrukking te gee aan hierdie wêreld, om sin te gee aan sigself en aan die wêreld waarin hy/sy leef, bestudeer.

Die honneurskursus bied ‘n inleidende oorsig tot die Afrikaanse taal- en letterkunde en ‘n student behoort ‘n oorsig te hê oor Afrikaanse literatuurgeskiedenis, maar ook ‘n agtergrond oor die deeglike ontleding van spesifieke tekste. Die vaardighede om verder onafhanklik te kan navorsing doen, word aangeleer.

BAHons (Anthropology)

Admission requirements: A Degree with a major in Anthropology and a final course mark of at least 65% in the particular discipline.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Dr Andile Mayekiso / Tel: 011 559 4297 / Email: andilem@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: Students must complete five courses in the Anthropology Studies Honours programme. One of these courses is an independent research paper carried out under the supervision of an academic in the Department. There are two compulsory methods courses for students doing their dissertations in Anthropology; the Research Design course in term 1, and the Writing Research course in term 3. With this course as a base, students may choose to specialise in Social and/or Cultural Anthropology, or Paleoanthropology. Electives can be chosen from a wide variety of social science courses. If Paleoanthropology is chosen, a structured programme of Paleoanthropology, Anatomy, and Archaeology is on offer. A course in field research methods in Archaeology and Paleoanthropology is also compulsory in this stream.

In both streams, the research paper is based on independent fieldwork. Topics are formulated during the methodology courses.

BAHons (Applied Linguistics)

Admission requirements: A BA programme or equivalent qualification with Linguistics, at least one language or a relevant specialisation in Communication at third-year level. Students specialising in Translation and Editing must have passed (a) at least one further language at second-year level and (b) a departmental translation and editing test.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Prof M Pienaar / Tel: 011 559 2694 / Epos: mpienaar@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: The postgraduate programme in Applied Linguistics and Literary Theory, in drawing on the knowledge fields of both its disciplines, is aimed at the specialised education and training and research needs of language practitioners such as translators, interpreters, text editors, language planners, copywriters and language teachers. Translation and interpreting are complex linguistic, cognitive and textual processes that, among other things, also entail socio-cultural mediation. Given the complexity of these activities and hence the interdisciplinary nature of language practice, these programmes offer a balance of theoretical, practical and experiential knowledge and skills.

BAHons (Classical Culture)

Admission requirements: Classical Culture 3A and 3B are strongly recommended. In consultation with the Head of the Department, a BA Degree in a related discipline may also grant access to the Honours course.

Duration of programme:
Full-time: 1 year / Part-time: 2 years

Contact details: Prof M Pienaar / Tel: 011 559 2694 / Epos: mpienaar@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: The course aims to supply a fairly detailed study of the contribution of our classical heritage to Western civilisation. Areas like Classical Art and Architecture, History, Philosophy, Poetry, Prose, Religion, Rhetoric or Technology are covered. In studying these subjects, fascinating themes like archetypes (e.g. the hero), master narratives, gendered language, strategies of communication, world view, and the history of ordinary people are covered. In this way students develop a critical understanding of their own culture, as well as an appreciation of the wealth of knowledge we inherited from the Greeks and Romans. All ancient texts are read in translation.

BAHons (Communication Theory)

Admission requirements: The admission requirements are specified by the general University entrance requirements, not excluding the discretion of the Postgraduate Admission Committee or the Head of the Department.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Dr Shanade Barnabas
Tel: 011 559 4327 / Email: sbbarnabas@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: The purpose of this programme is to explore a wide range of forms of human communication from a variety of perspectives that connect the local and the global and are rooted in African contexts and experiences. Our curriculum develops an innovative participation studies approach that addresses the specific communicative, cultural and social contexts in which we operate. As an inherently interdisciplinary and flexible programme, the BA Hons in Communication Studies intersects a multiplicity of fields and areas in the humanities and social sciences and offers an opportunity to explore their complementarity and interconnectedness. This qualification comprises five modules: Communication, Media and Society; Research Methodology; Contemporary Issues in Communication; Communication for Social Change; and the Research Essay. Each module is designed to introduce the student to a range of pertinent concerns in contemporary society. The Contemporary Issues module studies the context within which new media has evolved, the workings of new media and its impact on society. Communication for Social Change investigates the developed-developing nature of South African society as it is applied to various communication contexts. Communication, Media and Society provides a theoretical backdrop against which these are studied, and Research Methodology prepares the student for their research component (research essay).

BAHons (Development Studies)

Admission requirements: A Degree with a major in Development Studies and a final course mark of at least 65% in the particular discipline. Due to the interdisciplinary nature of Development Studies applicants (for the honours Degree) from other social science degrees with Development studies content are encouraged, and will be processed through the University’s Recognition of Prior Learning committee.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Dr Hali Healy / Tel: 011 559 2982 / Email: hhealy@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: Students must complete five courses, one of which is the compulsory Dissertation module, which each student will do under the supervision of a member of the department. Two are compulsory methods courses, Research Design in term 1, and Writing Research in term 3. These two courses are shared with anthropology. The two other courses are Development Studies specific courses, which may vary from year to year.

BAHons (English)

Admission requirements: Admission to the Honours programme must be approved by the Chairperson of the Department. (See also the General Regulations of the University.)

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Dr Sikhumbuzo Mngadi
Tel: 0011 559 4631 / Email: smngadi@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: This course comprises the study of literary theory and the literature in English from Britain, America, the Indian subcontinent and Africa. Periods covered range from the Middle Ages until the present day. Students may pursue individual interests in the course of writing a research essay. Optional modules in specialist topics such as life-writing, science fiction and text editing may also be available.
BAHons (Film and Television Studies)

Admission requirements: If a student intends specialising in a specialist field in which an undergraduate module was not offered, extended reading and/or an oral examination will be required. Permission may be granted by the Head of the Department to take an Honours module from another subject.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Dr Phyllis Dannhauser
Tel: 011 559 4112 / Email: phyllisd@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: Full-time students register for five modules.
Part-time students register for the specialisation modules and the research essay in the first year. In the second year part-time students register for Communication Theory and an elective module.
All elective modules are not necessarily offered every year.
The Honours programme consists of five modules, of which four are compulsory and one is an elective module:

Compulsory modules:
Semester 1 / Semester 2
Communication Theory
Research Essay
Film and Television Studies
Applied Film and Television Studies

Elective modules:
Communication Management and Persuasion
Development Communication and Identity
New Media and Culture

BAHons (French)

Admission requirements: Students who wish to enrol for the Honours programme in French must have completed at least three years of French, one of which must be the equivalent of a third-year university Degree according to the criteria applied by the Senate. The Chairperson of the Department of French must be satisfied that the prospective student’s knowledge of French is sufficient to permit the successful completion of the Honours programme. Knowledge of Latin is a recommendation.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Prof M Pienaar / Tel: 011 559 2694 / Epos: mpienaar@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: Our BA Honours in French promotes the in-depth study of Francophone and French Literature. We specialise in the study of specific genres like autobiography and the experimental novel, and of specific periods, like the twentieth century French theatre. Students can also focus on Translation studies or combine literature interests with translation (French/English; English/French) interests.

BAHons (Greek)

Admission requirements: Greek 3A and 3B or Modern Greek 3A and 3B are required for admission to this programme. A reading knowledge of German and/or French is recommended.

Duration of programme:
Full-time: 1 year / Part-time: 2 years

Contact details: Prof M Pienaar / Tel: 011 559 2694 / Epos: mpienaar@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: In this course we work with the Greek language, literature, artefacts, philosophy, history and religion. Not only do students develop their own analytical skills by participating in this course; they also understand the ways in which we as human beings give meaning to our existence through the use of symbols and complexes of symbols which come to us from ancient times. All documents are read in the original language, supplying students with the ability to interpret inscriptions, texts and artefacts in a reasoned manner. Students may focus their programme either on Classical Greek, or Modern Greek.

BAHons (Historical Studies)

Admission requirements: To gain entrance into this programme a student needs to have Historical Studies 3A and 3B, with an average mark of 65%.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Prof Gerald Groenewald

Theory and Historiography: The examination paper covers theory and philosophy of History as well as general and South African historiography.

African History: Themes covering the historical development of Africa are presented.

Themes in the History of Asia: This paper offers a selection of themes in the history of the great divergence between the Asian civilisations and the Western civilisation, since the fifteenth century; India, South East Asia, Japan and China.

South African History: Themes in nineteenth century history before 1865: British rule, debates on urban middle-class formation, Mfecane, Great Trek, Cape Lieralism, leaders in the interior, economic relations.

Specialisation course: Independent study of a specialised theme under academic supervision.

Themes in the History of Asia: This paper offers a selection of themes in the history of the great divergence between the Asian civilisations and the Western civilisation, since the fifteenth century, and may cover all or any of the following regions: India, South East Asia, Japan and China.

BAHons (Industrial Sociology)

Admission requirements: Admission will be considered for a student who completed Sociology or Industrial Sociology as a major (up to third year level), with a minimum mark of 65% in the preceding BA Degree. If a student does not comply with the requirements mentioned above, admission may be granted by the Dean of the Faculty, at the recommendation of the Chairperson of the Department.

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Prof Pragna Rugunanan
Tel: 011 559 4020 / Email: prugunanan@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: The modules in the BA Honours (Industrial Sociology) programme offer students understanding of the changing nature of global workplaces, industries, worker struggles and work dynamics. Considerable emphasis is placed on guiding students to conduct independent quantitative research. The programme offers skills in theory, report writing and problem-solving. Students also acquire SPSS skills and competencies and have to complete a 120-hour internship.

BAHons (Journalism)

Admission requirements: Students should have a 65% average for all undergraduate Communication subjects and/or the discretion of the Chairperson of the Department is sought (see General Regulations).

Duration of programme: 1 year

Contact details: Ms Elna Rossouw / Tel: 011 559 3434 / Email: erossouw@uj.ac.za

Brief description of programme: Full-time students register for five modules. Part-time students register for the specialisation modules and the research essay in the first year. In the second year part-time students register for Communication Theory and an elective module. Any two of the elective modules are not necessarily offered every year.

The Honours programme consists of five modules, of which four are compulsory and one is an elective module:

The best way to predict your future is to reimagine it.

The fourth industrial revolution (4IR) is transforming the world faster than the speed of life.

While its promises are limitless in possibility, it also has the potential to leave people behind. As we have learnt from the previous three industrial revolutions, the future belongs to those who embrace change (however uncomfortable) and equip themselves with the necessary knowledge and skill to emerge stronger, more relevant and sought-after.

At UJ we fully recognise the paradigm-shifting significance of 4IR in Africa and inculcate it into our vision for attaining global excellence and stature. This philosophy makes us more qualified than most to enhance the academic prowess of our students and faculty, intensify their learning experience, pioneer new forms of teaching and optimally prepare graduates, post-graduates and lecturers to thrive in this brave new world, to the benefit of all. It also ensures that we pursue relevant, practical academic research to contribute effectively to a 4IR society.

Because at UJ, we believe the future belongs to those who reimagine it.
