About UJ

The University of Johannesburg was established on 1 January 2005. It is the result of the incorporation of the Soweto and East Rand campuses of Vista University into the Rand Afrikaans University – which took place on 1 January 2004 – and the merger of the Rand Afrikaans University (into which the two Vista campuses had been incorporated) and the Technikon Witwatersrand on 1 January 2005, to create the University of Johannesburg (UJ).

The Technikon Witwatersrand had been in existence since 1925, the Rand Afrikaans University since 1967 and the Vista University since 1982. UJ has four campuses spread over Central Gauteng: the Auckland Park Kingsway Campus (APK), the Doornfontein Campus (DFC), the Auckland Park Bunting Road Campus (APB), and the Soweto Campus (SWC). A fifth campus, the East Rand Campus is currently dormant. With over 48 000 full-time students and 3 000 permanent employees, it is one of the largest residential universities in South Africa.

The incorporation and merger, which led to the establishment of the University of Johannesburg, was part of a major programme of the restructuring of higher education in South Africa. The National Plan for Higher Education, published in 2001, charted a course for a major revamp of South African higher education institutions. The most important consequence of the restructuring exercise conducted by the Department of Education was the reduction of thirty-six universities and technikons to twenty-three higher education institutions. This reduction was achieved by mergers and incorporations of existing higher education institutions, the planning and implementation of which was executed from 2002 to 2004. The final decision of the Minister of Education on the restructuring of higher education institutions was published as Government Notice 855 in the Government Gazette of 21 June 2002. As a result of the restructuring exercise, South Africa now has eleven traditional universities (offering traditional formative degree programmes), five universities of technology (offering vocational and professional programmes) and six “comprehensive institutions” (offering both formative degree programmes and vocational programmes).

The University of Johannesburg falls in the category of comprehensive institution. The term “comprehensive institution” is an instrument of educational policy and has no statutory definition. Each of the “comprehensives” has developed an identity that best suits their own strategic objectives.

Education for the 21st century

As one of the largest residential universities in South Africa without distance education programmes, the University of Johannesburg’s teaching and learning programmes result in degrees and diplomas in an array of subjects, ranging from Fine Arts to Engineering, from Business Management and Accounting to Haute Couture and from Theology to Homoeopathy. The University has nine faculties located in greater Johannesburg and it accommodates a diverse student body on four campuses located in Doornfontein, Auckland Park, Bunting Road and Soweto. Although these campuses are fairly recent additions to the urban landscape of the city, each is located in an area that made a significant contribution to its history and growth. For example, the campus in Doornfontein was developed in the heart of one of Johannesburg’s oldest suburbs, which was laid out in 1889, shortly after the discovery of gold on the Witwatersrand. The Soweto Campus, where major development commenced in 2008, is set to become the flagship of the new generation university and will contribute significantly to its surroundings. The Bunting Road and Kingsway Campuses in Auckland Park, a suburb laid out in 1895, have brought a vibrant new student population to this suburb.
First-year Experience
Facilitating Teaching and Learning
As all students enter university with the aim of attaining a tertiary qualification, UJ seeks to support first-year students who need to negotiate the transition between school and university successfully, if they are to succeed academically.

Both internationally and specifically in the South African context, students tend to find this challenging, resulting in many students dropping out during the first year. In response to this challenge, UJ has implemented a First-year Experience (FYE) initiative. The FYE aims to create an ethos and a way of life at UJ that will facilitate effective student transition from school to university. It supports an institutional climate and culture that is conducive to first-year students’ success. The FYE assists and guides students to take up the challenge of adapting to university life and becoming fully fledged and productive members of the UJ academic community.

The FYE gives strong motivation for the attendance of the First-year Seminar (FYS), the implementation of tutorials, and the Residence Academic Adviser programme (RAA) which provides students with opportunities for active learning and critical discussion of themes and topics, as well as opportunities for making friends.

First-year Seminar (FYS)
The University of Johannesburg would like to welcome all its new first year undergraduate students!

An informative and compulsory First Year Seminar programme has been arranged for all our new first years, beginning with the Dean's Welcome address, academic orientation to the Faculty, the Department and the specific programmes for which students have been accepted. Students will get to meet lecturers, receive their time tables and get to know their fellow students and the campus they will be studying on. The First Year Seminar programme is available from www.uj.ac.za/fys, then click on your Faculty and will also be sent out with the Registration Information packs.

The First Year Seminar is also when students will be introduced to the wide range of academic development and support services the University offers – the Library and Information Centres, Reading and Writing Centres, the Computer Facilities, Psychological Services and Career Development and the Career Resource Centres. These services aim to take our students from Good 2 Gr8!

Students will learn about the dedicated team looking after their safety and about the services available to them via the Health Clinics situated on each campus.

The First Year Seminar is not just about the very important academic aspects of student life: it is the time to join Student Societies, get involved in the many cultural activities, join one of the many sport clubs, join the gym or become a member of a Day House. What's that, you say? You'll find out during the First Year Seminar. First-year Seminar takes place from the 27 to 31 January 2020

A change of conditions of a study visa refers to a situation where one holds a valid permit to be in the Republic other than to study at the University of Johannesburg. This is usually the case of learners and students studying at South African high schools, colleges and other academic institutions and their visas would therefore be endorsed with a condition to study at institutions in any of the categories above. In order to register at the University of Johannesburg the visa will need to be issued in the name of the University.

Application for change of conditions of a study visa constitutes a new application for a study visa. Though the applicant will need to complete a separate form, the requirements are the same as for the initial application of a study visa.

Refer to the following website: http://www.vfsglobal.com/dha/southafrica/

Please note: When an international student is accepted for study at UJ, the student is required to pay 30% upfront, the remaining 70% need to be paid in the following instalment terms:

Medical Aid

All international students need to comply with the visa regulation as determined by the Immigration Act, Act 19 of 2004.

Regulation 10 (1) (i) determines the following:

An applicant for a study permit is required to provide proof of medical aid cover with a medical scheme registered in terms of the Medical Schemes Act, Act 131 of 1998, recognized in the Republic.

Although you may, with some other international insurance or medical product, secure a study permit from a South African visa issuing authority, the University of Johannesburg, in accordance with the Immigration Act, does not recognise such medical cover for registration purposes.

The University requires proof of full medical aid cover with a South African based medical aid scheme from the first day of the month in which a student seeks registration to the 31st of December of that year.

Month-to-month medical aid cover will only be acceptable from dependents on submission of the confirmation letter from the main member’s medical aid service provider undertaking to make monthly contributions and to provide proof of these contributions to the University on a monthly basis.

It is thus advisable that international students make the necessary financial arrangements for the medical aid cover prior to entry into South Africa. Should the student rely on a sponsorship, he/she should ensure that the sponsor is advised of the requirement at the onset of the sponsorship of the admission offer from the institution. Most institutions do not accept a letter from the sponsor in lieu of payment. Payment for the required medical aid cover fee is made directly to the medical aid company, separately from the tuition fee.

The following are medical aid companies with developed student-focused products that are registered in terms of the Medical Schemes Act. They offer the minimum benefits that a student may need while in South Africa. These schemes have weekly consultation sessions on all campuses throughout the year.

The Buddy System

What is a buddy system?

The University of Johannesburg Buddy System is a special programme that was established for the purposes of providing support to international students and ensuring cultural integration. All new international students are paired with a buddy for support in navigating the University systems and Johannesburg in general. The duty of a buddy stretches further than just the new student. They introduce the new student to the culture of UJ and South Africa through social events and excursions. All buddies report to a Buddy Coordinator in the Division for Internationalisation. The Buddy Coordinator will take up matters with the Division for Internationalisation should the need arise.

All buddies are trained in orientation matters, cultural immersion and mentoring.
Who can apply to be a buddy?

Any registered student of the University of Johannesburg, whether South African or international. The applicants should at least be in their second year of study.

Advantages of being a buddy

- Formal training from the Centre for Psychological Services and Career (PsyCaD).
- A certificate after completion of the term as a buddy, proving extra-curricular participation at the University.
- An impressive entry on your CV.
- The opportunity to learn about international cultures.
- The opportunity to build international contacts.

The following characteristics are required from a buddy

- Social responsibility
- Good interpersonal skills
- Empathy/sympathy
- Sensitivity to other religious beliefs and cultures.
- Committed to the duties of being a buddy

Role and tasks of a buddy...

A buddy should:

- treat students with respect;
- hold a positive outlook towards South Africa and the UJ;
- help international students adapt academically, by providing information about UJ. This information includes services to international students, the Library, PsyCaD, Academic Development, the University of Johannesburg International Student Society (UJISS), the Student Representative Council (SRC) and the relevant faculties;
- assist international students to adapt socially by introducing them to friends, exposing them to cultures in South Africa and introducing them to societies on campus;
- instil a sense of belonging to international students;
- take the students on a campus tour;
- provide guidance and support to students;
- provide basic information to students, such as public transport (bus routes), medical facilities, shopping centres, other information that could make the day-to-day life of the students more manageable;
- meet with students on an informal basis as often as possible;
- meet once a month with the assigned students on a formal basis on a date set up by the Buddy Coordinator;
- meet with the Buddy Coordinator a day or so after the formal meeting with the students to discuss relevant matters;
- report any problems, complaints or suggestions that might need attention to the Buddy Coordinator. The Buddy Coordinator will in turn report it to the Division for Internationalisation for further investigation and/or action;
• attend feedback sessions at the end of each term with the Division for Internationalisation;
• participate in a final written evaluation at the end of September.

Culture Shock
Coming to a new country is both exciting and somewhat nerve-wrecking. The key to preventing undue stress is to allow oneself to ease into the new environment and to ask questions. In South Africa especially, the people around you will be glad to help.

Attend the orientation programme and make full use of the student buddy assigned to you by the Division for Internationalisation.

Homesickness
When the excitement wears off, a person is confronted with daily life in his/her new environment, where everything can be quite different from what you are used to back home. Make use of our buddy system to meet new people, make friends and get to know your new environment. PsyCad is also available to help you deal with homesickness.

Socials
The Division for Internationalisation, the buddies and the University of Johannesburg International Student Society (UJISS) arrange several social events for international students during the two weeks of registration. By attending these events, international students can meet one another.

Annual International Festival
The Annual International Festival is presented by the Division for Internationalisation with the assistance of the international students in September. The International Festival has always been a great success. International students are given the opportunity to showcase their various cultures to the UJ student community. You are encouraged as an international student to bring traditional recipes, traditional costumes and other items from home representing your country for this wonderful event.

South Africa

Location

South Africa lies at the southern tip of the African continent between latitudes 22° and 35° south. It is flanked in the west by the Atlantic Ocean, in the south and the east by the Indian Ocean, in the north by Namibia, Botswana and Zimbabwe, and in the north-east by Mozambique and Swaziland.

Climate

The climate is mostly sunny and temperate, and the average number of sunshine hours each day is among the highest in the world: 8.5 compared with 3.8 in London, 6.4 in Rome and 6.9 in New York. Winters are mild and clear, although snowfall often occurs on the higher mountain ranges of the Cape and KwaZulu-Natal, causing brief cold spells in the surrounding areas. The south-western Cape Province enjoys a Mediterranean climate (dry summers and winter rainfall). In general, the rest of the country experiences summer rainfall usually in the form of short afternoon thunderstorms. As the country lies in the southern hemisphere, seasons are the reverse of those prevailing in the northern hemisphere.

Average maximum temperatures in degrees Celsius for some of the major cities (tourist centres) are:

Currency

The South African currency unit is the Rand, denoted by the symbol R. (R1.00 = 100 cents.) There is no restriction on the amount of foreign currency you may bring into the country, but it must be declared at Customs & Excise when you arrive.

Credit Cards and Travel Cards

Most international credit cards such as American Express, Diners Club, MasterCard and Visa are accepted, as well as travel cards. Foreign currency is accepted in South Africa, and may be converted into local currency.

Please note: A commission fee is charged every time you exchange currency.

Taxation

The Value Added Tax (VAT) rate is 14% and is included in the price you see on products. It is levied on most products except staple foods. Students should obtain proof of payment for all capital items purchased during their stay to claim refunds at the port of exit, provided the value of the items exceeds R250-00. Information leaflets on the procedure to be followed are available from the VAT Refund Administration offices at the Beit Bridge Border Post and OR Tambo International Airport (Johannesburg).

Electricity

City and town power systems mostly operate at 220/250 volts, AC 50Hz. Adapters for electric shavers and hair dryers are obtainable locally.

Telephone & Internet communication

South Africa has a sophisticated telecommunications network. International dialling codes can be found in South African directories. A direct dialling service connects all the local centres, except the more remote rural districts. The international telephone service links South Africa with more than 111 countries around the world. All the hotels and businesses have fax services.
Time
Throughout the year, Standard Time in South Africa is two hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time, one hour ahead of Central European Winter Time, and seven hours ahead of US Eastern Standard Winter Time. Consult the local telephone directory for detailed world time zones. There is no daylight savings time in South Africa.

Banks
South African banks are able to accommodate all international transactions. Banks are open from Monday to Friday (09:00 to 15:30) and on Saturdays from 08:30 to 11:00. There are Automatic Teller Machines (ATMs) on all campuses, although not all banks are represented. These operate 24 hours a day.

Apart from the ABSA and Nedbank on the APK campus, other bank facilities are available at Campus Square and in Melville. International students may contact Standard Bank Melville situated in the Campus Square Mall on +27(0)11 853 4329.

Foreign exchange
The closest foreign exchange facility to the APK and APB campuses is available at the ABSA Bank in Annet Road, Auckland Park (2 km from the APK campus). Traveller’s cheques and foreign currency can be exchanged at most banks, American Express +27 (0)11 476 3045, HRG Rennies Travel +27 (0)11 407 2400, or at the airport. Pre-arrival Information and Campus Guide for International Students - 2020
Public transport

The University of Johannesburg campuses are on several bus routes going to the centre of Johannesburg. The APK campus is on the route to the West Rand and the south of Johannesburg. Minibus taxis can be hailed and stopped at any point, but we do not recommend this as these taxis are often overloaded and/or in an unroadworthy condition.

The bus routes can be found on the official Johannesburg website: www.joburg.gov.za, Quickhelp, Transport.
