The National Pilot Oral History Project, National Archives and the Department of Arts, Culture, Science and Technology (DACST), January - September 2000.

This pilot project for the National Oral History Programme of DACST involved training people in the National Archives and DACST in conducting oral interviews and investigating ways of archiving and disseminating them. The project focused on the 1956 Women's Anti-Pass March to the Union Buildings. The trainees identified and interviewed twelve women who participated in the march.
