UJ PROPOSAL WRITING – MINI COURSE

This mini course on proposal writing, is offered at the UJ Postgraduate School and is aimed at master's students and doctoral candidates who are currently in the process of writing research proposals.

The course will run over a period of seven weeks. The aim is to support applicants to write a first draft of the proposal for submission to respective supervisor/s for additional guidance and refinement.

The course will offer a structured approach with feedback on participants' drafts from both a supportive critical reader and peers.
