

Thembi is a sport management masters student and senior tutor at the University of Johannesburg.

Her love, dedication, and passion for sport began when she enrolled for a sport qualification in 2015 and her interest grew. She was nominated as the first female team manager at NWU in 2016 and also participated in residential activities as a sport and recreational officer. She was awarded the USSA team manager of the tournament in 2017 and holds a SAFA D-license coaching certificate. Not only does she excel in sport, but Thembi is also a powerful force and uses her skills acquired at UJ, positive attitude, and tireless energy to encourage students to work hard and succeed. Thembi enjoys coaching football, reading sport articles, and advocating for gender balance in grassroots football.
