UJ secured a grant to advance the improvement of audit outcomes.

The Education, Training and Development (ETD) sector SETA and the Financial Services SETA awarded our School of Accounting within the College of Business and Economics (CBE) R11 million to invest specifically in the TVET Colleges.

The faculty will also use the grant to enhance its short learning programme offerings and training opportunities in the public sector. Congratulations to Professor Tankiso Moloi, Department of Accountancy, for securing this much-needed funding.

The Fourth Industrial revolution (#4IR) has changed the way we work, stay entertained and the way we teach and learn. At #UJ, we reimagine the future and an education with us is the best way to get all the confidence and knowledge you need. Imagine THAT

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HMqAf2f1HAc>

With its innovative Cloudebate™ concept, UJ's pursuit of global excellence has been a most rewarding journey that will continue to develop and expand along with 4IR, and along with UJ's ongoing commitment to reimagine the future. Our panel of experts will debate how the fourth industrial revolution needs to balance humans and technology. We will unpack how machines and people need to compliment each other rather than compete for the same work. What are the ethical considerations and how do we ensure that we are training people for complex jobs rather than repetitive tasks?
