I am a driven and motivated individual who has a passion to teach, but more importantly learn. My career objective is to acquire professional knowledge and skills as well as produce research for the Competitive Intelligence, Strategic and Research Industries. My aim is to develop myself professionally, empower others and participate in community initiatives. I will strive to apply my skills and expertise to produce actionable intelligence, develop strategies and gain competitive insights for the organisation that I am employed in as well as contribute to the profession with my innovative personality.

EXPERIENCE

AUGUST 2016 – CURRENT

LECTURER, THE UNIVERSITY OF JOHANNESBURG

- Teaching and learning

This consists of contributing to the curriculum, making use of innovative teaching and learning techniques, preparing, marking and moderating examinations, academic counselling, tutor support and assessing students work and providing feedback.

- Research productivity

This consists of attending conferences, publishing conference proceedings, submitting articles to journals, applying for grant funding as well as supervising honours and masters' students.

- Academic administration

This consists of attending graduation ceremonies, departmental meetings, faculty meetings, committee meetings and participating in the department's conference.

- Community engagement

This consists of becoming a member of a professional body or society, forming alliances, participating in community engagement projects as well as participating in university open day initiatives.

- Professional development

This consists of attending workshops or courses that will improve your teaching and learning skills, attending research workshops, completing a PHD, peer reviewing journal articles and becoming an external moderator and examiner.

JANUARY 2015 – JULY 2016

STRATEGIC TUTOR, THE UNIVERSITY OF JOHANNESBURG

Being a strategic tutor prepares one for becoming a lecturer. I oversee all tutors and student assistants at the department ensuring that they are equipped with the skills and resources needed to carry out their jobs. I also assist the Honours students with study-related queries as well as assist the lecturers with lecturing, practicals, invigilations, marking and administrative tasks. This job demands one to manage time, resources as well as people.
