Social Justice Continuum in Comparative Context: Indian and South African Perspectives on Equality, Labour Law, Legal Education and Use of Emerging Technologies

SEMINAR 2: LABOUR LAW AND MARKET ACCESS

The Institute of Law, Nirma University and the Faculty of Law, University of Johannesburg are delighted to invite you to the second seminar in a four-part collaborative project.

In our second seminar on Labour Law and Market Access, presenters from India and South Africa will debate two themes.

The first panel, 'Future of the Workforce: Legal Developments and the Informal Economy in India and South Africa' explores the phenomenon of new forms of work, including the burgeoning informal economy. Presenters will consider legislative and judicial responses and effectiveness to these developments in both jurisdictions.

The second panel, 'Climate Change and Vulnerabilities of Migrant Labourers/Workers', critically assesses the existing scenario of climate-induced migration from the perspectives of vulnerability and transformative justice. The panel will also explore how vulnerable migrant labourers/workers are treated within India and South Africa's labour law and social security regimes.

Seminar 2: Labour and Market Access
