

Faculty of Education

Short Learning Programme (SLP): Teaching for Learning in and for a Fast- changing World

This SLP equips participants with the knowledge and skills to design and implement significant learning experiences for learners that will enable deeper learning and the development of competencies required in a fast-changing world.

The programme consists of five interrelated modules: Teaching for deeper learning; Creating an environment conducive to learning; Playful teaching and learning; Teaching for developing an entrepreneurial mindset in a fast-changing world, and Project-based teaching and learning.

To receive a certificate for the SLP, participants must submit a portfolio in which evidence of learning is documented per the portfolio requirements.

Who should apply? • Practicing teachers are encouraged to apply

Duration • 15 weeks

Mode of Delivery • The SLP is offered entirely online. Participants must complete weekly learning tasks independently and join a weekly facilitated online discussion to further discuss the module content.

Total cost for the SLP • R5470

Starting date • 17 July 2023

Applications are open • For more information on how to apply, contact Dr Dean van der Merwe, at deanvdm@uj.ac.za

Project manager • Dr Dean van der Merwe

Project leader • Prof Sarah Gravett

The development of this short learning programme was supported by the DBE-E3 programme, funded by the LEGO Foundation, with no special conditions.

