

Research Capacity Development Postgraduate School

Research Ethics, Reporting and Professional Etiquette

DATE • 26 July 2023

TIME • 09:00 - 11:00

FACILITATOR • Dr Tony Shabangu

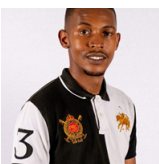

FOR BOOKINGS register for this event on rcdonline.co.za

ONLINE WORKSHOP

About the Workshop

- Are you currently busy with a research report? Perhaps your working through your research and struggling with the ethical implications of your research? Or you just want to know how to approach a supervisor and maintain a good relationship with them? Well this workshop is for you.
- Join me as I take you through the details of what goes into Professionalism, Research Ethics and overall Research Report Writing. I will cover:
  1. Types of research reports
  2. Components of research reporting
  3. Research Ethics
  4. Professionalism in the academic space
    - a. Personal Development
    - b. Student - Supervisor relationships
    - c. Research Life Cycle.

About the facilitator

Tony Shabangu is the CM0464 Coordinator at the Research Capacity Development unit based at the University of Johannesburg's Postgraduate School. Prior to that, Tony was a Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the Centre for Leadership Ethics in Africa, based at the University of Fort Hare (2022 -2023). He initially joined the University of Johannesburg in 2008 and then recently received his Ph.D. at the Department of Philosophy in 2022. His main area of specialization is African Ethics, primarily Ubuntu. Prior to that Tony was the on-site Research Writing Consultant at UJ's Research Capacity Development unit located at the Postgraduate School. Tony has presented work in various conferences, with the most recent being the University of Pretoria's Conference on Violence and Agency (June 2023) and the Philosophy Society of Southern Africa conference in Jan 2023 (at UJ).