

Applications Now Open!

For Women in Science Program South Africa

- Financial support (R80 000 for doctoral students and R160 000 for post-doctoral researchers).
- Leadership training to help break barriers and advance careers.
- Access to a network of accomplished women scientists worldwide.
- Well-being skills for women scientists to thrive in their careers

Background: www.forwomeninscience.com/challenge/show/130

Registration: www.forwomeninscience.com/login

Rules & Regulations: www.forwomeninscience.com/challenge/show/130

L'Oreal UNESCO For Women in Science Hybrid Invitation: Postgraduate Support and Funding

Date: Wednesday, 14 May 2025

Time: 13:00 – 14:00

Venue: UJ DFC Library Auditorium

84 Sherwell Street, Doornfontein Campus,
University of Johannesburg, Doornfontein

Join on MS Teams: <https://bit.ly/UJLFWIS>

Meeting ID: 343 258 758 261 5

Passcode: Jh3M3zu3

Speaker Biography: Michelle Gololo

Michelle Gololo is a seasoned communications specialist with over a decade of experience in corporate communications across various industries, including finance, mining, telecommunications, and public relations. Currently serving as the Corporate Affairs & Engagement Lead at L'Oréal South Africa, she has developed a robust skill set in internal communications, media relations, reputation management, crisis communication, and stakeholder engagement. Throughout her career, she has held pivotal roles where she focused on enhancing employee engagement and executing strategic communication initiatives. Her expertise was further honed while overseeing corporate communication for multiple operations across Africa, ensuring alignment with overarching business objectives. She holds a degree in Business Communication and has completed additional studies in strategic brand building. Michelle is passionate about leveraging innovative communication strategies to enhance organizational reputation and foster stakeholder relationships.

