Woman of Stature Awards: CBE Education Category Winner

The College leadership proudly announces and congratulates Professor Lethiwe Nzama-Sithole, Winner of the Woman of Stature Awards - Education Category.

With a record high of over 700 nominations and a total of 98 shortlisted finalists it is a remarkable achievement. Lethiwe is an Associate Professor in the Department of Accounting, School of Accounting in the UJ College of Business and Economics. She was honoured with this award on 12 April 2025 at the 10th Annual Woman of Stature Awards South Africa. Remarkable South African women were celebrated for their leadership, excellence, and resilience across 14 industry categories.

The education category award was sponsored by ApexU, a transformation and training agency of skills development and B-BBEE practices, South Africa.

The CBE has a longstanding relationship, 2022-2025, with Women of Stature, South Africa and since January 2025 the collaboration was expanded to include the UJ Department of Academic Development and Support.

Charlotte du Plessis, CEO and founder of Woman of Stature Awards South Africa, reflected on the decade-long journey, saying, "Ten years ago, we set out to build a platform that would elevate, honour, and empower South African women. Tonight is a testament to the power of that vision—and to the extraordinary women who have walked this journey with us."

The College of Business and Economics looks forward to walking the journey further with Woman of Stature South Africa.
